ANSWER SHEET

Future is already here

H

Hello fellow readers. Today I've visited a festival of young people's startups, and here is my review.

HR

There were many startup ideas, but the only one that caught my eyes was a simple, yet brilliant idea. Startups featured an AI-integrated house, where AI is basically everywhere. You can get its assistance while cooking or working, for example, without even touching any device.

This is very unique idea, because not only you have to have high level of engineering, you also need to gain trust people's trust in AI in order to implement it.

If this idea will come to life, society will change drastically. It will be a new era of full-AI assistance everywhere.

~~Positive~~ challenges. But young startups always have obvious explicit challenges. ~~It's~~ ^{those are} lack of funding, insufficient knowledge, amount of interest and passion etc.

I also decided to ask a few visitors about the festival. Mike, 14, said: "This is, frankly, most creative event I've been to. I like it all". Laura, 13, said: "This festival is a joke! They are trying to implement the impossible! 'User-ridiculous event!'".

After all, I can say that I do see potential in those startups. They are will be used as foundation of future. And these ~~consider~~ ^{are} are pretty important for young people too. On festival they can express their thoughts and get support for ~~making~~ ^{making} it to life. Creating it in real life. Thank you for reading this review that's all!
